SUMMARY

The explosives storage area is 1 of 2 located near Sterlitamak (Figure 1). It is 9 kilometers (km) north of the city and adjacent to the Sterlitamak Explosives Plant [REDACTED]. Although associated with an explosives plant, the separate location gives this storage area excellent potential for a military explosives storage facility.

This secured installation occupies approximately 380 acres and contains 17 storage and 2 support buildings. Most of the structures are revetted (Figures 2 and 3).

[REDACTED] KEYHOLE missions covered the area between [REDACTED]. Two small storage buildings were constructed between [REDACTED].
